

Now filled with urgency, our boy scans the room for a waiter to order his own set of 7ups. As luck would have it, all the serving staff are preoccupied. One waiter, in particular, catches his eye—serving another table with steak. This moment is treated with exaggerated flair: the waiter performs an over-the-top presentation, complete with nonsensical theatrics, turning the simple act of serving steak into a spectacle!

THE THEATRICALS

