

With a puzzled expression, she glances around, as if sensing something unusual. The "ssss" sound serves as a momentary interruption, connecting everyone to the culinary magic unfolding before them.

Amidst a serene gathering, a young woman attentively engages with the elders seated beside her. Suddenly, she looks up, drawn by the "ssss" sound emanating from the sizzling food. Her attention shifts from the conversation to the table laden with glasses and plates.

The girl gets up in a rush with a spring in her step, clearly urgent about something. However, this task turns out to be more difficult than she initially thought. As she walks, elders and relatives from the family catch hold of her for small talk or other matters. She skillfully finds exit points from one group to another, obliging and stealthily leaving the discussions.